Speed Limits Increased

Cabinet approval of changes in highway speeds affect a number of roads in this area.

Increases from 60-50 miles per hour to 65-55 have been approved for Highway 16, northwest of Duffield to Carrot Creek; Highway 39, Thorsby to Alsike Corner; and Highway 57, Alsike Corner to Drayton Valley.

Unofficial Reports Say No Airport

At the regular meeting of Town Council on Thursday, June 10th, Development Chairman, W. R. Mayhew, reported that it was unofficially understood that the airport project for Drayton Valley had been turned down by the partment of Transport. The Council had received no word on the subject and is still awaiting Ottawa's decision.

The proposed industrial - airport complex noth of Drayton Valley has been the subject of considerable controversy since it was introduced to council last summer.

The town optioned farm lands at the proposed site and officials of the Department of Transport visited here and conducted a survey prior to an economic study to determine its feasibility.

Results of the study would determine the D.O.T.'s recommendation, which, according to the unofficial word quoted by Mr. Mayhew, was negative, and not yet communicated to council, by the federal department.

Residents on the west side of 43rd street north of 50th avenue, presented a petition to council requesting paving of the street fronting on their property this year. The petition was signed by all but two of the residents on the street.

Council felt that before making a decision the matter should be studied by the Town Engineer who could present estimates for paving and also for some method of dust control as an alternative.

Council confirmed the appointment of Associated Engineering Services Ltd. to proceed with work as requested in providing a communal water supply from the North Saskatchewan River.

The Town Engineer reported on the storm sewer outlet problem on the Oscar Johnson farm on the town's north-east boundary. Mr. Arabsky advised that with proper ditching and diking the problem could be overcome. Council authorized the Public Works Department to proceed with the work as recommended by the engineer.

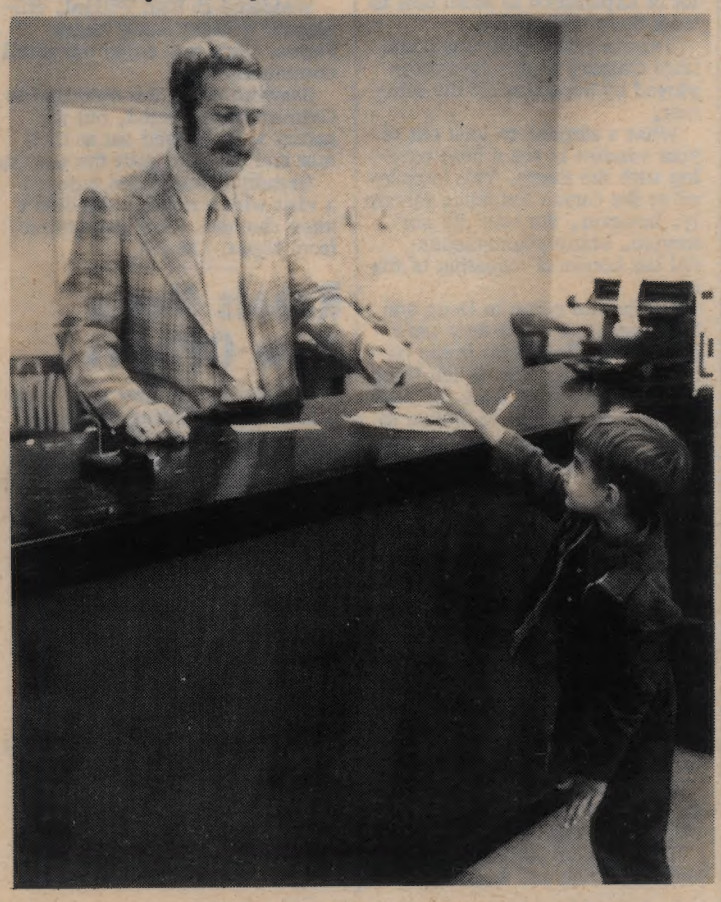
Council authorized the siting of two trailers on industrial lots, as requested for caretaking duties. Council, however, expressed concern about the number of requests of this type and decided that all such approvals would be reviewed on June 1st each year in future.

The Town Engineer was asked to look into the drainage situation on Industrial Road where there have been requests for driveway entrances in conjunction with paving of the street.

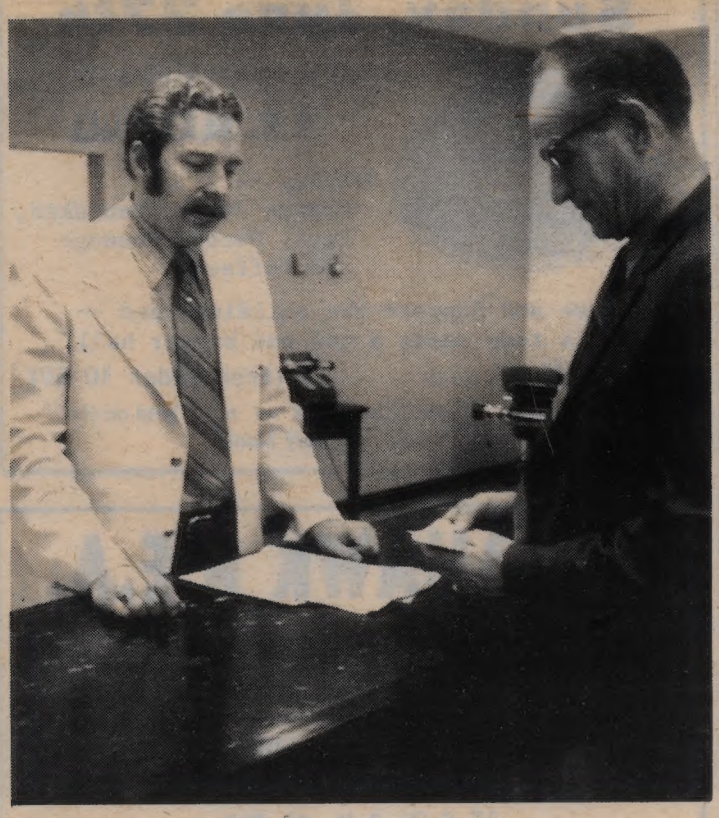
Council authorized the addition of another man to the Public Works Department to be primarily employed in the Recreation Department.

Recreation Director Mike Gormley reported on the recent chlorine incident at the swimming pool which he stated was partly caused by faulty equipment and partly human error. He advised that new parts had been ordered for the chlorinator.

Considerable discussion followed on additional safety measures that might be employed.



Darcy Cherrington, 6, of Moon Lake, believed to be the youngest walker ever to complete the Drayton Valley 25-mile "Miles for Millions March", is shown here depositing his pledges with Mr. Bruce Burnett at the Royal Bank. Darcy's walk raised $29.25.



Highest money raising walker, Rusty Zander of Tomahawk, is shown depositing the results of his 25 mile walk -- over $500.

D. V. Highlights

BY MRS. EDITH DEBY

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Hamilton of Alcomdale, have been much feted during their ten day visit to Drayton Valley. June 11th was the Hamiltons forty-fifth wedding anniversary and it is one they will remember with pleasure. At the Farm Union Banquet on that date the announcement of the anniversary took the Hamiltons completely by surprise. The orchestra played the "Anniversary Waltz" in their honour. On the Sunday following Mrs. Jack Starling entertained at afternoon tea in her home when several of the Hamiltons friends were invited and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hines Sr. took the Hamiltons for a drive in the countryside in the vicinity of their old home. It has been about fifteen years since the Hamiltons left this district but "It's still home," says Mrs. Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hill have purchased a home in Drayton Valley. This is the best possible news for it must mean that they plan to stay.

Very best good wishes for future happiness go to Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Cooke who were married on Saturday. Mrs. Cooke is the former Miss Juanita Block, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Block. The young people expect to live in Whitecourt.

Emanuel (Sonny) St. Louis gave his parents the most pleasant of surprises when he arrived unannounced for a ten day holiday last week. Mr. St. Louis is employed by Williams Brother's, of Tulsa, Oklahoma, in Oman with headquarters in Muscat. It is hoped that he will make a record on film of the many interesting things to be seen in that ancient land.

We think the best kept secret of the week was that Miss Emily Duckett planned to come home on a surprise visit. Everyone conspired to keep the news from Mrs. Duckett and if she guessed she was actress enough not to let any of know it.

A wedding of interest was solemnized in Entwistle on Saturday when Miss Elaine Waddel became the bride of Mr. Robert Starling. Best good wishes, Mr. and Mrs. Starling.

Mrs. Floyd Combs had a few days in hospital last week for minor operation on her neck.

Mrs. George Mohn tells us that she saw a bear on the Elementary school grounds one day last week. Bruin attracted a good deal of unwelcome attention and disappeared in the woods to the west. I sincerely hope he has hasn't taken up permanent residence.

Mrs. Wiechert is back in hospital again we are sorry to report.

The "Parkland Notebook" carried the notice "The Red Baron is Coming" in last week's edition of the Western Review. Mrs. Grinde, Mrs. Hewlett and Mrs. Smithinsky represented the Pembina District (west of Violet Grove) at an organizational meeting held at the Violet Grove Community Centre to plan for the coming of "The Red Baron". The Red Baron is a bright red bus. It will visit many rural communities during July and August bringing recreation of all kinds for all the family. It will be at Dunington Hall on July 26th. Following a day of recreation a pot luck supper will be held and films will be shown in the evening. You are asked to mark your calendar for July 26th. Further notice will be carried in this paper at a later date.

SUNDANCE CLUB NAMES DELEGATES

At the regular meeting of the Sundance 4-H Garden Club, the selection of a member to attend camp at He-Ho-Ha was a major item of business. The names of eligible members were drawn with Alvina Hilts the winner and John Erwin, alternate.

The club's trail ride and trip to Jasper was tabled for the next meeting to be held July 14th.

EASYFORD NEWS

Sonia Hutchinson hosted a basketry leaders' course at her home on Wednesday, June 2nd. There were four guests present, Lena Halderson, Assistant Recreation Director for the County of Parkland; Doug Brown, Goverment photographer; two leaders; Mrs. Rebus and Margaret Parent. Their main objective was to learn how to make baskets out of our native willows. They came to the conclusion that it would take a lot of experience to learn how to work them efficiently.

Valerie Hutchinson was home from Calgary where she is employed by Supertest for the summer.

What a surprise to look out of your window to see a bear playing with the sheep. This happened at the Guyon residence recently, however, the bear did not survive. Stanley Romanchuk did the honors of disposing of the bear.

Misfortune came to Doug and Margaret Neil while they were both absent from their home on Saturday, June 12th. When Doug arrived home from work the back door window had been broken to let theives in. Estimated value of the possessions stolen was $800.00.

Butch Oscar and new bride are now visiting friends and relatives in our community. Butch is the second son of Inez and Leslie Oscar.

Kenny Fink has just arrived home from Prince Patrick Island for a two month vacation, until the drilling rig he works on goes back into operation.

Larry and Gail Hicks are out visiting in the area. They are now living in Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Anderson surprised Gladys and Harold Fink with a visit this weekend.

The Easyford Hall Society held another Dance and Social on June 12th. Music by the Edwin Erickson Band, was enjoyed thoroughly by the large attendance.

Showers of rain did not bar the Farmer's Union from holding their annual picnic at the Easyford Picnic Grounds. The crowd ate in the shelter to show the rain who was boss. To their amazement the sun came out in time for the races and games, so everyone had a good time.

Welcome to Sam Villard, employed by MacKenzie Angus Farms. Hope you enjoy our small community Sam.

Easyford Ball Club travelled to Calmar this weekend, but the games were washed out so Calmar and Easyford split the points.

Grandma Hutchinson enjoyed a visit with a nephew she didn't know she had, Merv Hutchinson, from Nyssa, Oregon.

Report From Parliament Hill

By Allen Sulatycky, M.P.

What will be the results of Prime Minister Trudeau's visit to the USSR?

Many are attempting to answer that question. There is however little agreement. Political opponents of the Prime Minister see a great variety of negative ramifications while his supporters are declaring it the start of greater things for Canada.

Anyone who positively pronounces the value of the trip is doing little more than guessing. Any benefits which may accrue to Canada will not become fully evident for some time to come.

One facet of the Prime Minister's latest foreign trip which has not received a great deal of attention is the new trade potential which exists following the visit. Canada must always be concerned about insuring the greatest possible export markets for herself. We are, after all, the world's greatest traders on a per capita basis.

Canadians, as a whole, rely more on export sales than any other people in the world. Our export trade is only half as large as the United States but, of course our southern neighbour has ten times our population. The Japanese have exports which exceed ours by only ten per cent while having five hundred per cent more population than we do.

In circumstances such as these, it would be foolhardy for Canada to ignore trade possiblities whereever they may be developed. This is particularly so under current conditions when groups of countries are banding together to form common trade blocks thereby making it difficult for some of our imports to penetrate these areas.

The best example of this development is the current negotiation by Britain to enter the European economic community which now consists of West Germany, France, Italy, Holland, Belguim and Luxemburg. If Britain and other countries are successful in entering the common market it will certainly have the effect of reducing our exports to the new members of the EEC.

Given all the factors of world trade, it make good sense for Canada to seek closer relations with nations containing a quarter of a billion people and nations which are still short of consumer goods which we are well able to supply. The one tangible benefit which the Prime Minister was able to announce on his return from Russia was an agreement by the Russians that whenever they required wheat they would come first to Canada as a perferred source of supply. It is perhaps more than coincidental that only a matter of days after the conclusion of the Prime Minister's trip the Honourable Otto Lang, Minister Responsible for the Wheat Board, announced that Russia has agreed to take almost two hundred and fifty million dollars worth of Canadian wheat.

Aside from the immediate tangible evidence, it will be years before sufficient facts are known to make an accurate analysis of the value to Canada of the Russian trip.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

By Kevin Peterson and Don Sellar (Of the Calgary Herald)

Government and Opposition have embarked upon a bitter feud over the effects of a Conservative plan to revamp Alberta's residential property tax system.

Municipal Affairs Minister Fred Colborne predicts implementation of the Tory plan would spell economic disaster for small communities at the same time it gave some tax cuts to urban residents.

Tory municipal affairs spokesman David Russell, however, stands firm in his contention that the Conservative election plank on property taxation would save an average of $15 per Albertan -- and $18.50 per rural resident.

Basically, the Tories want the province to assume the full cost of the Grade 1 - 12 education system by removing education taxes from property which now cover 40 per cent of the bill.

At the same time, the Conservatives are proposing elimination of the province's municipal assistance grants pegged at $38 million this year and contending the remaining $26 million needed to offset the property tax changes can be raised from other sources.

"That would be one of the fastest routes to a sales tax in Alberta you can think of," Mr. Colborne says of the Tory tax plan.

He says removal of the municipal assistance grants would mean tax hikes of almost 50 mills in same small communities, with only partial relief coming from the eliminated education levy.

"Their proposal would bring some relief to residents of well-off municipalities, but it would be disastrous for many other areas," he maintains.

Mr. Russell didn't take Mr. Colborne's analysis lying down. "What he is saying is so far away from what we propose that I am certain Mr. Colborne is not talking about the same plan," the Tory MLA retorted.

The Conservatives maintain that any government can find $26 million -- only 2 per cent of the Alberta budget - by making a few minor adjustments in its programs.

Mr. Russell also contands municipalities will not be upset by the loss of oil royalty grants from the province because they will no longer have to consign some of their property revenue to a provincial program, namely the Education Foundation Program.

Mr. Colborne, however, hasn't forgotten the howl from local politicians this spring when the province imposed the ceiling on municipal assistance grants. He predicts "an explosion from the municipalities" if the Tory plan becomes law.

The topic is bound to be a prime one on the hustings this year, although more cynical observers believe the debate is merely a new version of the old shell game -- and a rather boring one at that.

Editorial Comment

Walkers Urged to Hurry Pledge Collecting

The local Miles for Millions committee has expressed concern about the failure of many walkers in the "Miles for Millions" march to complete the project by collecting pledges. To date only about half the pledged amount has been collected.

It is pointed out that it is a little odd, to say the least, to go to the trouble of gathering pledges and sweating out the walk -- and then failing to collect the money earned. Walkers in this category might just as well have stayed home.

Older walkers are urged to get their pledges in and parents of younger walkers are asked to check with children and encourage them to complete the project they have undertaken.

To Become a Manager

THE QUALITIES NEEDED in management have been the subject of many books and essays. These, however, have been addressed to the men and women who have arrived at management desks. This Monthly Letter attempts to show that when a person cultivates the qualities day by day on the job he now has he will be ready for the managerial job he seeks, whether it be management of a factory, an office, a store, a school, or a home.

Perhaps promotion today is not so easy as it once was, but education has advanced and enlarged so as to prepare one to cope. It can be said with truth that more is needed than is included in the Horatio Alger success formula: a poor but worthy hero who enters life as a bootblack or newsboy, surmounts impossible obstacles, and achieves the heights of success. But certain fundamentals remain unaffected by mechanical, social and trade revolutions.

To be an efficient manager does not demand high education, but it does require common sense, keen intelligence, and qualities of judgment, temperament and drive. In whatever post you reach you must welcome the call to combat the difficulties that problems impose. You hold your post only as a sportsman holds a challenge cup.

"Manager" is an omnibus term, including men and women who hold a great variety of directive and advisory positions, but it always implies leadership. If you are not a natural leader whom others instinctively trust and obey, now is the time to start cultivating the qualities that will raise you into that class.

The pathway to management rank is much like the hard road followed by a recruit in the armed services in search of a sergeant's stripes. He has to work at menial tasks; differentiate his left foot from his right; be at the proper place at the assigned time; separate a gun into its component parts, shake them up in a blanket, and put them together again; get along with a mixed bag of other service men, including sergeants; learn to help and to accept help; keep healthy; grouch with discretion; develop aptitudes; scorn weakness; grow accustomed to command by obeying, and learn how to lead by following others.

Interest in succeeding is the motive power that will see you through the drudgery and tribulations. You have an end in view, and you accept the means to that end.

All this apprenticeship is necessary if you are to avoid the misfortune of being placed in a management position just because you look the part. Looks count for little in the hard bargaining of labour relations, in the tough going of a crisis in production, in the continuing battle to keep the annual financial statement in black ink.

A man's emotional maturity determines his ability to work effectively with other people. There is no credit due you for being old in years: that is something that just happens. But to be mature in thinking is a credit to you because you have worked toward it and developed it. Maturity is a state of mind, not a date on a calendar.

A manager is only as good as his actual performance proves him to be. As a worker you are tackling one job at a time and coping with one problem at a time. When you become a manager you will be at the focus of many jobs and many problems.

Some of the precautions observed by the manager when entering upon an enterprise are like those taken by a military commander: enter no undertaking without reserves; make your base secure, so that you have a strong fixed point around which to manoeuvre; take account of your strength honestly, and discount heavily your estimate of the stupidity of your opponent.

When you are seeking promotion to managerial rank your life consists of activity, planning, aspiring, doing, and pressing on. You will become sensitive to problems, fluent with ideas, flexible as to means, and restless for results.

Not all men are so eminently qualified that they can reach the very top of the managerial tree. But anyone can rise to a better job in which he will be making the most of his talents. The path is never an unbroken series of successes. There will be disappointments and reverses that must be met staunchly.

After all is said, the way to win success was put as clearly as need be by a little boy. When he was asked how he learned to skate he replied: "Oh, by getting up every time I fell down." -- Royal Bank Monthly Letter

BERRYMOOR NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Blair Thatcher have been on a holiday trip to Vancouver Island. While there they visited with relatives and friends.

Congratulations to Miss Gloria Van Ember and Miss Leanne Johnston both of Berrymoor who were among those who received recognition at the Annual Awards Night held in the Breton High School recently.

The annual high school softball tournament held in Breton recently was only partially completed because of rain. The young players made a valiant effort to complete the day's schedule but the rains just came down too hard.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Campbell and family spent last week visiting with the Gilbert Martin family in the Grande Cache area. While they were away Mr. and Mrs. Allan Bryant looked after the farm.

Despite a few showers the annual Farmer's Day Picnic held at the Lindale Hall grounds on June 11th was a success. The ladies' softball game between the local team and Buck Creek proved to be quite a thriller; with three extra innings being required to break the tie with Buck Creek emerging as the winners by a 13 to 14 score. In the men's game the local team was defeated by St. Francis. Even though the day was cool the dunking tank set up by the Lindale 4-H Swine Club drew a lot of attention. A delicious supper was served from 5:00 to 7:00 p.m. and a well attended dance at night completed the days activities. The draw for the garden cultivator was made at the dance with Mr. Lyle Oulton of Breton being the winner. The Lindale Hall Association and Unifarm 94-49 are to be congratulated for the hard work they did to make Farmer's Day a success.

Quite a number of local people attended the Evergreen Rodeo at Drayton Valley over the weekend. Nice weather resulted in a very good attendance. District residents taking part in the parade included Mr. and Mrs. Russell Gilchrist driving a fine looking team of horses. Fred Martin on Kelly's Pump Service float, Mrs. Darlyne Gavigan on the Hudson Bay Co. float, and a group of riders representing the Golden Spur Gymkhana Club led by Miss Debbie Laughlin, who was chosen as the club's queen.

Miss Dianne Haight will be hostess for a Tupperware party at the home of her parents on the evening of June 14th.

The Golden Spur Gymkhana Club had scheduled a gymkhana at their grounds in Lindale for June 13th but postponed it to a later date because that was the final day of the rodeo in Drayton Valley. The new date will be announced later.

Miss Hilda Van Ember of Edmonton spent the weekend at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Edward Van Ember.

Swim-A-Thon

The Annual Swim-A-Thon put on by the Neptune Swim Club will be held Saturday, morning, June 26th starting at 8:00 a.m.

The swimmers will be swimming up to 64 lengths (1 mile).

They will be asking to be sponsored per-length -- don't underestimate the swimmers ability.

Your support in this venture will be appreciated by the Neptune Swim Club and the proceeds will go 50% to the club and 50% towards further development of the swimming pool.

The Tomahawk 4-H Beef Club had a weekend outing at Miette near Jasper. There were about 20 4-H'ers including Allan and Rodney Jouan, Libby and Saddie Stevenson, Cathy Goertz and Linda Pickunowicz from this area.

Mrs. Parfienuik, Mrs. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Strocker and family and the 4-H leader, Mr. David Case also went to help with camping. They spent Friday night and Saturday at Miette and on Sunday morning packed up and went to Jasper and from there home again.

GLORIA WENSLEY

To Attend Summer Drama School

Gloria Wensley, a grade eight student at St. Anthony's Separate School, will attend the Provincial Drama Summer School in Drumheller the last week in August. She will be sponsored by the Drayton Valley Players Adult Drama Club.

Win Prizes For Western Decorations

The Western Dress-Up Contest at rodeo time, sponsored by the Drayton Valley Lions Club, although not heavily subscribed to, nevertheless drew some interest from main street businesses.

The Treasury Branch won first prize with an imaginative recreation inside the bank of a typical small street of a pioneer western town. Coming second with an interesting mixture of western antiques and western clothes in a window display was Adam's Shoe Store. Third prize went to Jacobs Studio for a window displaying western effects around oil-photographic studies of cowboys.

The Lions extend their thanks to business-men who helped create a western flavor for Rodeo Week, and expressed the hope that the western theme might be extended for future rodeos.

If your family enjoys boating trips, take a radio with you and stay turned to weather reports. When a storm threatens, head for shore. Be water wise. Keep in the swim with Red Cross water safety all summer long.

THE GAS FOR 1971 CARS

Esso 2000

Introducing Esso 2000, the new type of gasoline most 1971 cars are designed to use, with 80% less lead than regular grades. Some lead has been retained because engine tests show that a small amount prevents possible valve damage by excessive wear of exhaust valve seats. When new cars are equipped with pollution control devices that require a non-leaded gasoline, Imperial will be ready with the right ESSO gasoline.

We have anticipated some questions you might ask about Esso 2000 and have attempted to answer them here.

Q. Why do car manufacturers recommend this type of gasoline for most of their 1971 cars?

A. Most 1971 cars are designed to run on a lower octane fuel of 91-92 octane and Esso 2000 is specially formulated to those new specifications.

Q. What gasoline should be used for a 1971 car when Esso 2000 is not available?

A. Esso 2000 is the preferred fuel but Esso regular gasoline can be used when it isn't available.

Q. Can my pre '71 car operate on Esso 2000?

A. Many pre 1971 model cars will run on Esso 2000. Your Esso dealer will be happy to help you decide whether Esso 2000 is the right product for you.

Q. If my car runs well on Esso regular gasoline, why should I change to Esso 2000?

A. It will increase spark plug and muffler life and reduce particulate emissions.

Q. What is the lead content of Esso 2000?

A. Esso 2000 has 0.6 grams of lead per Canadian gallon (0.5 grams per U.S. gallon) in comparison to 3 grams in present gasolines.

Q. How can automotive emissions be reduced?

A. By the mid-70's, new cars will be equipped with pollution control systems which will essentially eliminate automotive pollution. It is expected that these systems will require lead-free gasoline and Esso 2000 is the first step in this direction. Also, regular tuneups are important to maintain engine efficiency, conserve gasoline and reduce emissions.

Q. Does Esso 2000 contain the Engine Cleaner and other performance additives?

A. Yes—Esso 2000 contains the Engine Cleaner and is formulated with other additives to deliver the same smooth performance as other Esso gasolines.

Q. How much will I pay for Esso 2000?

A. Imperial Oil Limited suggested retail price is the same as Esso regular gasoline. THEREFORE IT WILL COST YOU NO MORE TO USE ESSO 2000.

Mayor Outlines Water Problem

For the past two years, and most particularly during the last two months, there has been much talk and criticism about the quality of our water and of the apparent ineffectiveness of Village Council.

Let me assure you that we, on Council, are very much aware of and concerned about the situation and contrary to common belief, we have not been sitting on our hands.

During the past two and one half years that I have been on Council, we have had several studies made on the problem; we have travelled to other centers and inspected different types of installation and filtration systems we have talked to numerous authorities on the matter; we have even considered a different source of supply. In 1970 we were prepared to build a reservoir on our own at a reasonable cost but found that it would not meet Health requirements until it had an engineer's stamp of approval.

From all the studies conducted and the authoritative information received, we arrive at a common denominator - money. THE TURBID WATER SITUATION CAN BE RECTIFIED IF WE ARE PREPARED TO PAY FOR IT. We know that, the Councils before us knew that, and you the citizens probably know that, although you may not be prepared to admit it.

At the Council meeting held last week, we requested a water treatment company to provide us with a firm estimate of cost to construct a three compartment settling pool with the necessary filtration and treatment facilities. They will provide this estimate within ten days, and we are given to understand that it will be in the vicinity of $40,000.

The decision to be made will rest mainly with you. You will be fully informed on the situation and you will be given an opportunity to voice your opinion and request a plebiscite on the matter. Think about it, talk about it, the Council needs your guidance to make this major decision.

Respectfully yours,
G.R. Dompnier, Mayor

Farm Reports Important To Hail Study Project

Hail activity so far this year has been running about normal, but way ahead of last year. Hail was reported in central Alberta on eight days during the last half of May, but most of it was small and only a few very scattered reports of hail up to grape size were received.

During the first half of June hail fell somewhere within the Alberta Hail studies Project area on nine days. Again most of the hail was shot or pea size and at this early stage in crop development little damage was reported. The most active days were 8 and 9 June with several hailstorms embedded in the general rain and shower conditions were hit central Alberta.

On 8 June several storms formed along the foothills from northwest of Calgary to Drayton Valley. However none of them persisted long enough to travel further east than highway #2; and the largest hail was generally grape size, although there was one report of walnut size hail near Ponoka -- the first this season.

On 9 June several hailstorms again formed in the foothills but most were very short-lived. However one storm did persist and laid a swath of pea and grape size hail from west of Pigeon Lake to Camrose.

During the evening of Sunday, 13 June, a band of severe thunderstorms swept north across central Alberta giving a spectacular lightning display and grape size hail at many locations with some isolated reports of walnut hail. The storm system hit Edmonton in the early hours of Monday and large hail was observed in some parts of the city.

The hail reports sent in by farmers constitute one of the most important sources of data for the Hail Studies Project. As these reports arrive at project headquarters they are carefully checked and sorted according to the date of the storm. The total number of reports and the size of the largest hailstones are entered in a log book giving an up-to-date indication of storm intensity for each day.

The reports are then plotted on large scale maps of the project area and finally coded up for computer analysis. In addition to the mailed-in reports from the volunteer farmer observer network, telephone surveys are conducted on storms of special interest. Since the project began over 43,000 hail reports have been collected and processed. As a result more is now known about the climatology of hail in central and southern Alberta than in any other place in the worl.

It only takes the computer a few minutes to plot up very detailed maps of the hail activity on each day. Various maps can be produced showing the largest hail, the total amount of hail, whether the hail was soft or hard and many other parameters and how they vary along the swath. These maps are then related to the stucture of the storms as revealed by weather radar, aircraft measurements and cloud photography in order to learn more about how the hail forms within the storm.

Thus the reports of hail provided by the farmers in central and southern Alberta are making an extremely important contribution to the Alberta Hail Studies Project. This information provides the essential background for the design and evaluation of hail suppression experiments.

MAGNOLIA NEWS

The Magnolia Hall was decorated with dainty pink and white streamers and white bells for the bridal shower honouring Miss Connie Anderson. The shower was held during the evening of June 10th when approximately forty friends, neighbours and relations gathered to shower Connie with gifts and all good wishes. Entertainment for the evening was games and the manufacturing of spring-time hats, some of which looked very charming. Following the entertainment the bride-elect opened her gifts. She was assisted by her bridesmaid Gene, her elder sister, Iona her younger sister and Audrey Gilbert, her future sister-in-law. After all the gifts had been opened and admired by all present, Connie very demurly thanked everyone for the useful and beautiful gifts. She also gave a special thank you to the ladies club for sponsoring the shower for her.

A bountiful yet very tasty lunch was served to everyone.

Bob and Nora McCracken welcomed a brand new grandson on June 6th. The proud parents are Gilbert and Linda Greenwood. The baby weighed six pounds nine ounces, he is to be called Darrin Robert and is a brother for Edward.

The ladies held their monthly meeting at Doreen Thomeus' with Marjory Anderson as co-hostess. There were nine members present. Ruby Brown won the tea prize.

A sincere thank you goes to Rex Rimmer of Evansburg who very kindly donated a propane cook stove to the Magnolia Community Hall.

Three local couples celebrated their anniversaries this past week. They are Jack and Vera Balfour thirty-two years on June 7th; Al and Alma Roth twenty-six years on June 14th and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anderson forty-nine years on June 14th. Congratulations to each of you from all of us.

The Sunday morning ball game with Seba Beach was rained out so it will have to be played at some other time. The game in the afternoon against Wabamun yielded a score of ten to nine in favour of Wabamun.

The Cubs held their "Cuboree" at the Pembina Park. Vera Hampton was in charge of the local group. She tells me they were very well behaved and had a good outing.

The Community Club held a meeting at the home of Tom and Doreen Thomeus' last week. They decided to purchase stainless flat ware for 120 place settings. It arrived in time for the barbecue on June 12th. Approximately 125 folks arrived to enjoy the barbecue and to honor four of our local folks. They were: Mr. Betty McDougal, Mrs. Irene Myslicki, Mr. D. Churchill and Mr. Fred Sorensen. These are folks who will not be honoured with an anniversary party but the community still wished to say "We like to have you with us".

David Negraiff celebrated his sixth birthday on Saturday, June 12th. Weekend visitors with the Negraiff family were Joan's father, sister, brother-in-law and nephew.

Here is an item for all the young at heart folks. Pete McDougal and his fiance Miss Irene Conway have set their wedding date. Pete's mother very happily tells me she is going to gain a daughter-in-law on October 9th.

A topic of conversation in this community is the appearance of several bears and three badgers. The bears have been seen by numerous people while the badgers were seen by three adult men and two girls. There appears to be a mother badger and two partly grown young ones. This is an odd visitor for our region.

Alvin Goetz of Bluffton was elected President of the Wetaskiwin Federal Constituency Organization of the Social Credit Party of Canada, Alberta Branch, Monday night.

The meeting, held at Wetaskiwin, also elected Ernest Kvamberg of Thorsby as 1st Vice-President, and George Martin of Carvel as 2nd Vice-President. Don Ohrn of Thorsby was appointed Secretary-Treasurer.

Farmers Organize Enterprise To Provide Rural Vacations

Approximately 50 farmers in central Alberta have banded together to start a unique enterprise in this province.

They have formed the Great West Vacations Association in Bentley to provide registration facilities for farmers who would like to invite city people for a farm vacation. The recent exodus of farm people to the city has left many farms with empty houses and houses that are much too large for their present occupants. Then there are a large number of city people who have no access to a farm, but who would love to spend a couple of weeks enjoying country life. Also, there are many children today who have never seen a cow, pig or chicken at close quarters.

By renting out their vacant accommodation, or by taking visitors from the city into their homes as paying guests, farmers with this type of accommodation will be able to make a little extra money at a time of year when they can certainly use it, and, at the same time, give a city person, or family, a chance to enjoy a week or two of rustic living.

To date, farmers have expressed considerable interest in the project. Although some have been a little hesitant to offer their simple rustic accommodation, others have jumped at the idea with such comments as "I have been doing this kind of thing for friends and relatives for years, and it will be kind of nice to get paid for a change". Dave Wilcox, who is director of preventive social services with the Alberta Department of Social Development and who has been helping to get the project organized, says that the Hon. Henry Ruste, Minister of Agriculture, has expressed great interest in the association and is behind it one hundred per cent. Mr. Wilcox feels that if the summer program goes really well, it could easily be expanded to include the winter months. There are many skidoo enthusiasts, he says, who would welcome an opportunity to take their skidoos into the country for a weekend of unrestricted fun.

The association is now accepting membership applications. The fee is $5.00 per farm and is used for expenses and advertising. Membership entitles a farmer from anywhere in the province to register his accommodation. The association also registers applications from city people who want accommodation, and then they match the two together. For example, each person that registers his accommodation states what kind of accommodation he has, and stipulates the clientel he is prepared to take. One farm family may say they do not want children under 12, while another may say they do not want children over 12. Still others may want a family to rent a cottage on the farm. All accommodation is acceptable for registration no matter how rustic or primitive. The important thing is that it be described accurately and honestly. The information is recorded by the association so that an urban person, or family, who asks for modern or rustic accommodation etc. can be put in touch with the farmer who wants that type of client.

The association has also set up a safety prevention program. Under it every farmer that registers is provided with a safety check list so that he can check out such things as an old well to make sure that it is not a safety hazard. In addition, farmers offering accommodation are encouraged to take out liability insurance if they have not already got it. Finally, the association is taking out special insurance that will cover everybody who stays on a farm that is registered with it.

A family renting a cottage on one of these farms can expect to pay from $35 to $65 a week, depending upon the size of the accommodation and the things that go with it. In some cases there will be such things as riding, boating, rock hunting, bird watching and so on. The cost of board and room for children that go to a farm without their parents will probably be in the neighborhood of $60 a week per child. As well as their meals and a place to sleep, the child, or children, will need supervision by the farm family.

One of the "by-products" which Mr. Wilcox sees coming out of the central Alberta project is a better understanding of farm people and their problems by their city counterparts.

Anybody who would like more information on the Great West Vacations Association should write to Mrs. Laura Castleman, Box 185, Bentley, Alberta

Interesting Agenda Planned For Voyageurs

Frank Maddock High School for the second time in four years, has been selected to participate in the Young Voyageur Program sponsored by the Federal Government and the Alberta Department of Youth.

Twenty-one Young Voyageurs from Granby, Quebec will be arriving at Drayton Valley on June 29th and remain until July 7th. Activities planned for the visitors include a barbeque, a plane trip around the area, a 3-day trip to Jasper National Park, a tour of the oil industry and a civic dinner sponsored by the town of Drayton Valley.

On July 13th nineteen Drayton Valley High School students and two from Seba Beach will leave for Toronto. The group will be chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. A Day from the teaching staff of Frank Maddock High School and Drayton Valley Elementary Schools respectively.

Women's Week Planned At Agricultural Schools

Alberta women will be getting together to exchange ideas during Alberta Women's Week at the agricultural and vocational colleges at Fairview, July 12 - 15 and at Olds, August 2 - 5.

For the small fee of $6.25 per day, women across the province can get away for a few days of relaxation and creativity. The fee includes accommodation in the College dormitories as well as three meals each day. Mothers who bring a child with them need not worry; supervision of children will be arranged at no extra charge.

About the program: Every morning will be devoted to craft workshops, conducted by the Cultural Development Branch. Women can try their hand at weaving, working clay, tie and dye and block printing. A panel of WOMEN TODAY will give both urban and rural women an opportunity to discuss the "modern woman" and her place in society as career woman, mother and wife. Consumer consultant, Tannis Yankewicz, will be on hand to explain consumer rights regarding misleading advertising and packaging. From hints on flower arranging to hints on how to take better photographs, Alberta Women's Week has a lot to offer. There is time too, for recreation and relaxation, including a barbeque and a Walt Disney feature production.

For more information regarding the Alberta Women's Week program or to make application if you wish to attend, write the Principal, Fairview or Olds Agricultural and Vocational College, Fairview or Olds, Alberta. Please apply by June 30th. Indicate time of arrival and if you will be bringing a child.

If there are construction sites near your home or summer cottage, remember a child can easily drown in a few inches of water at the bottom of a ditch, trench or tank. Red Cross urges you to teach your children to play in safe areas.

PARKCOURT NEWS

Mrs. B. Campbell, Ron Marke and Grandma Roth of Wide Water spent a couple of days visiting at the Tuftin home.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Wallace spent a day visiting at the Prylowski home.

A cleanup day was held at the community hall on Thursday afternoon. A good crowd of men and ladies turned out to clean the grounds, cut grass, prepare horse shoe pits etc. Thanks to all who came and helped in any way. The shingling of the hall which was to have taken place on Wednesday had to be postponed on account of the rain.

The weatherman co-operated to give us a beautiful day for Farmers' Day. A very large crowd attended the annual picnic which began at twelve noon with the serving of a deep fried chicken or ham dinner with all the trimmings. After dinner everyone enjoyed the activity of their choice. The men participated in a horse shoe tournament with winning money going to Harvey Marchand.

The young people enjoyed the races with some novelty races included.

Bingo was played in the hall and the ladies also held a bazaar and a take a chance board on a stuffed nylon quilt. Lucky winner was Mrs. Neumy, Sr.

A good ball game was thoroughly enjoyed by players and spectators alike as the married men pitted their muscles against the agile teenagers. Both sides were satisfied that they had come off best in the contest.

In the evening a large crowd again filled the hall to dance to the music of the Ole band. Old timers of the district attending the dance from B.C. were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Onstine and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Yandt.

Mr. John Fausak is now employed with an oil company for the summer months in the Swan Hills district.

On Sunday several Park Court students took part in the school Walkathon. Thanks to all those who participated and helped to make it a success.

A shower was held on Saturday night at the hall in honor of Miss Dawn Vandussen. Hostesses for the evening were Louie Antoniuk Doreen Woroschuk and Leda Smalley. A stag party was also held for the groom-to-be Mr. Bill Antoniuk.

HART CANTELON

Readers wishing to write to Mr. Cantelon are invited to do so. All letters to be forwarded to Hart Cantelon Counselling Services Ltd., 1600 Cambridge Building, Edmonton. Please include a stamped self-addressed envelope to ensure a reply.

Dear Mr. Cantelon:

My husband was at a mental hospital twice now and he is quite a problem. His Doctor calls it Schizophrenia. He does not seem to take or care about any family responsibilities at all, either financially or otherwise. He accuses me of unfaithfulness indiscriminately, and not one word of this is true at all. He won't take us anywhere, and he will not have anyone at our house, even his own family or mine, are not allowed over. He will pant like a dog, and brood alone for days at a time, and he will not eat at the table with us. When we finish the meal, he comes alone and sits and eats. My Doctor suggested two weeks ago, that I ask him to come and see him at the hospital, for another visit and that if he refused, to go to the police and commit him. What do you think?

Dear Wife:

Your husband is desperately in need of Psychiatric help. Schizophrenia is one of the most difficult mental diseases to treat, and indeed, in most cases, it tends to be permanent. So follow your Doctor's advice, and if necessary commit him as he suggested. You would not hesitate to take your child to the Doctor, if he were ill, adopt the same attitude towards your husband. He needs your help.

Dear Mr. Cantelon:

My husband has two brothers who live in town, two miles away from our farm. We own the home place. It was his father's farm. The youngest brother tried the farm for a number of years, but eventually left and bought a store in town. This boy being the youngest was spoiled by his parents. He depended on his Dad to fork out the money, whenever he and his wife were in need. They didn't even pay the taxes on the farm when they were there. Again and again, my husband and his father have picked up debts that this boy incurred. Eventually one year ago, my husband said that he was not going to do this any longer, and that his youngest brother and wife were on their own so far as he was concerned. From this point on, there seems to have been nothing but trouble for me. Rumor after rumor goes around in our community, about me saying things and doing things that are not true at all. Why they do this, is what I would like to know? Is it because they are jealous of us having the home place? We might look as though we are better off but really they have just as much as we do. As a matter of fact, they have a new car, while we drive an old one. They have a washer and dryer, and I am still using the old wringer type. Please tell me what to do.

Dear Concerned:

There isn't a great deal that you can do with relatives like this. Unfortunately every family has at least one such element in the circle. Undoubtedly, a good bit of it, is jealousy. What is more, the accident of living in close proximity also tends to bring out the worst in people. You know, you need to get away from family relationships from time-to-time, in order to see the best in them, and not the worst. Unfortunately, with your husband being a farmer, and on the home place, you can't pick up and get away from it all, so all you can do, is turn a deaf ear, and develop a thick skin for this kind of reaction. Let them go their way, and don't go out of your way to look for trouble from them. Develop your soical life amongst the friends that do appreciate you, and leave the relatives "be". Above all else, do not develop any guilt feelings wishing that it could be different. There are too many other relationships and opportunities in life that make living worth while, without wasting it on the kind of relatives that you would never really choose, if we had a choice in these matters.

Dear Mr. Cantelon:

I have a daughter of sixteen years of age, who will be seventeen in July. She is very hard to communicate with. You tell her what you would like her to do, and she seems to do the very opposite. For instance, last Friday, I was called by the Principal of the High School that she attends, and he said that she had missed eight days of classes in May, thirteen Science classes, and twelve Math classes. She had been skipping school all of this time. We did not know anything about this at all. Even last Friday, she was away from school all day, so they sent her home until we went back with her and signed truancy papers, to get her back at school. Yesterday, my husband had to make a trip away from the farm, so I went back with her. She promised to be in school and do her work. She promised this in the presence of the counsellor. She was also to get two week's detentions after school, during which time they said she could get help from her teachers and get caught up with the classes that she had missed. I thought that this was a good idea, and they also said that if she did this, she would not have to go to the detention room. So I talked to her about this last evening, and she seemed to think it was a good idea. But this morning, when she went out, I noticed that she went back into her bedroom, and picked up a book on "Modern Romance". I have my doubts whether she will get help or not. I do not think that she is a bad girl, but she is inclined to run around whenever possible, with a so-called "Hippie" bunch. We do not really allow her to go out that much. She is permitted to go out Friday and Saturday nights on occasion, but not always. This girl is a daughter of five girls in the family. She seems to be very self-conscious and wants a lot of attention. She is most happy when kids are around. But when she is alone, she seems miserable, and if we bring up a subject and try to talk to her, she really resents everything and talks back. Is there a different way to handle her?

Dear Concerned Parent:

There could be a number of contributing factors in this problem. For example, it could be as simple as "The Group" in which your daughter is travelling with. By this, I mean, the gang that she goes around with. They may be a group who are not interested in schooling, but simply in having a good time, and getting away from home restraints as much as possible. Think through about the group that she is with, and ask yourself whether or not, their parents are running into the same problem with them as you are with her. If this is so, this gives you some kind of indication in the area in which you must get guidance. It could be that you should call the parents of the other youngsters, and getting together and deciding what kind of guide-lines you are going to lay down, and STICK BY them, so that the young people are dealing with a group of parents and not just with old fashioned Dad and Mom. If this kind of co-operation is beyond a realistic attainment, then it could mean, transplanting this girl completely in a residential school situation, whereby she is required to pick up new guide-lines and make new friends, and be under new restrictions. But make no move, until you have talked it through with the counsellor at school, and try to determine from him, or her, as the case might be, what is the correct analysis of the situation and what help should be sought. Above all else, do not wait any longer before you make some kind of a decision. The fact that she is skipping school, and is so resentful at home, should be like two flashing RED LIGHTS demanding of you, as her parents, some kind of action NOW.

Safe Boating Week Across Canada From July 1 to 7

The great majority of boating accidents which take hundreds of lives a year can be prevented by safe operating procedures, the Canada Safety Council says in its Safe Boating Week Campaign running from July 1 - 7 inclusive.

The aim of the campaign, being conducted in co-operation with the Federal Ministry of Transport and the major voluntary boating organizations in Canada, is to alert the public to the magnitude of the problem and what steps should be taken to solve it.

In 1969, the last year for which figures are available, 289 Canadians lost their lives in boating accidents. There are in excess of 1,000,000 pleasure boats in the country.

"By promoting safe operating procedures and stressing the need for better training in boat-handling, we believe the campaign will increase efforts being made to reduce the toll taken by boating accidents," J. C. Thackray, President of the Canada Safety Council, said in his campaign message.

Transport Minister Don Jamieson said the increased number of boats has led to the increasing congestion of the nation's waterways. His department is responsible for the administration of federal laws regarding navigation.

"Dangerous and illegal practices consequently, can have far-reaching results that affect the lives of the careful as well as the foolhardy," he said in a message endorsing the campaign.

By far the greatest number of victims drowned when the boats in which they were riding capsized.

This category of accident can be caused by overloading, overpowering, venturing into dangerous unknown waters, sailing in poor weather, the sudden movement of passengers and lack of necessary operating skills.

If boats look overloaded, they generally are and are especially vulnerable to capsizing in choppy water.

Overpowering makes boats extremely unstable, especially on turns, resulting in many capsizings. The law requires that every pleasure boat 16 feet long or under, powered with an outboard motor or motors totalling 10 horse horsepower or more, shall carry a plate issued by the Federal Ministry of Transport stating the maximum load and horsepower recommended for it.

Excursions into unknown waters subject the boat passengers to dangerous currents, rapids or tides which can quickly capsize the craft. Boaters should inquire as to local dangers before taking such trips.

Only the foolhardy, often reinforced with the false bravery provided by alcohol, venture out into storms. Other boaters get caught in bad weather by failing to listen in to marine and local weather forcasts before sailing. Small boats should keep reasonably close to shore so they can make it to safety if a squall materializes.

Passengers should stay put once they are seated to prevent boat overturnings. And boat operators must know how to deal with the bow waves and wakes of bigger and faster boats to prevent capsizing.

Boats should be equipped with lifejackets approved by the Ministry of Transport for every passenger. Some four out of five people drowned in boating accidents were not wearing life jackets.

Many of the victims drowned because they tried to swim for shore which looks deceptively close across the water. The Canada Safety Council advises boaters whose craft capsize to stick with the boat until help comes unless they are in cold water or the craft is drifting towards danger.

Taking sensible precautions against capsizing greatly reduces the possibility of tragic mishaps. These and knowledge of correct starting and docking techniques, the rules of the road, correct water skiing procedures and the proper use of night-time running lights are needed to cut down the high and unnecessary toll taken in boating accidents.

Beef Study

KAPUSKASING, ONT. -- Pregnant beef cows can safely spend the winter outside and still give birth to strong, healthy calves in late spring.

This was shown in studies made at the Canada Agriculture Research Station here by Dr. E. E. Lister and W. A. Jordan of the CDA's Animal Research Institute at Ottawa in cooperation with J. M. Wauthy and staff, Kapuskasing Experimental Farm.

The cattle kept outside were compared with herds that were kept inside or had access to housing.

The two animal nutritionists emphasize that the roughage - fed pregnant cows kept outside required about 50 per cent more feed than those that had access to inside shelter or were kept inside all the time.

Now the scientists plan to study the effects of varying lengths of nursing. Three different types of year-round housing will also be compared in this test. The cows will be bred to Limousin bulls.

Don Sanderlin Heads Canada Skeet Team

Don Sanderlin of Edmonton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Sanderlin, regained the Canadian skeet shooting championship in Toronto on June 13th.

He broke his own Canadian record in racking up a sensational score in the national-style skeet tournament with 198 hits out of 200 targets. On the final day of the tournament he broke 100 straight targets, the fourth time in his shooting career that he has accomplished the feat.

In the 1970 international-style skeet championship Don placed third due to being plagued by gun breakdowns.

The Toronto victory means that Mr. Sanderlin will lead the five-man Canadian skeet team in the Pan-American Games in Colombia, South America. They will also compete in the world skeet championships at Bologna Italy in July.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ashton

United Church Setting for Ashton-Hazzard Ceremony

On Saturday, May 22nd, 1971 at 3:30 p.m. the Drayton Valley United Church was the scene of a lovely wedding when Miss Eileen Hazzard, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hazzard of Drayton Valley, and Mr. Howard Ashton, younger son of Mrs. Dolly Ashton of Bow Island, were united in marriage.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Reverend Oldring on an altar flanked with two baskets of large, feathery white mums, daisies with yellow centres, small white mums and yellow gladioli. Organist was Mrs. Jean Peterson.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked radiant in a slim, floor-length gown of nylon organza over taffeta. The gown featured a yoke of french lace, long sleeves, a small stand-up collar, and a long built-in train accented by a bow. Her four-tiered, elbow-length veil was held in place by a hat-style headpiece which featured appliques of white flowers and rhinestones. She wore gold, button earrings and a small gold locket, a gift from the groom. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

The Matron of Honour was the bride's sister, Mrs. Lorraine Foster, from Edmonton. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Aileen Muzylouski, friend of the bride, from Drayton Valley and Miss Connie Dusza, cousin of the bride from Westlock. They wore slim, floor length gowns of pale green, polyester chiffon over taffeta. The gowns featured heart-shaped, standup necklines, empire waistlines and long, sheer sleeves. The girls carried bouquets of daisies and baby's breath with yellow streamers. They also wore gold, button earrings and gold, choker necklaces.

The Best Man was Mr. Barry Ashton, brother of the groom, from Calgary. Groomsmen were Mr. Erich Grass, friend of the groom, from Bow Island and Mr. Brian Forester, brother-in-law of the bride, from Edmonton.

A reception for 115 people was held at the Legion Hall at 6:30. Mrs. Jinny Warner from Calgary said grace. Master of Ceremonies was Mr. Buster Allen, uncle of the groom, also from Calgary. A toast to the bride was given by Mr. Dennis Pregoda of Bluffton to which the groom ably replied. A toast to the bridesmaids was given by the best man.

Immediately following the reception the bridal couple proceeded to open their gifts which were displayed during the dance. The dance followed at 9:00 with music by Reg Ross.

For a going away outfit the bride chose a turquoise fortrel pant suit with beige accessories and a corsage of orange tropicana roses. Following a two week honeymoon to Colorado the couple will be residing in Drayton Valley where the groom is employed by Cities Service.

Parasite Control In Horses

Summer is the time to watch your horses for round worms and bot worms, according to J. L. Kerns, horse specialist with the livestock branch of the department of agriculture.

The confined pasture situation, particularly in the summer, increase the number of worms in horses because of the high degree of reinfection. Often a case of worms will go unnoticed in the summer only to have dramatic effects the following winter. In the winter the animal is under stress due to cold and possibly insufficient, or improper, food. It is then that the worms, which have become firmly established during the summer, begin to take their toll.

For more information on preventing parasite infections, see your local veterinarian or write the veterinary services laboratory, Alberta department of agriculture, O. S. Longman Building, 6909 - 116 Street, Edmonton. For more information on the porper feeding of horses, all year around the under various working conditions, write to Jack Kerns, animal industry division, Alberta department of agriculture, Edmonton. An updated leaflet entitled "H "Horse Nutrition" is available free of charge.

LIBRARY NEWS

It will be remembered that two weeks ago I apologized for not being able to get a copy of "Five Smooth Stones" by Ann Fairburn. Presto. A copy was left on my desk over the weekend with a note from "Anonymous Donor". Thank you very much, Annonymous Donor.

Among new books for the young and very young are: "Snoopy and His Sopwith Camel" "Whose Mouse Are You," "The Marvelous Land of Oz" "Did You Ever Hear a Klunk Say Please?" "The Little Carousel" "The Flying Lessons of Gerald Pelican" "And So My Garden Grows" from the Mother Goose Library and many others. These books are beautifully illustrated.

"Cheerleading and Song Leading" written by Marylou and Ron Humphrey stresses originality of material. This book should be in popular demand when school gets under way in the fall.

On Friday of last week we said "Good-bye" to Connie Jones Pickpu who has served you all so p—— pleasantly as library assistant. Ann Cathrea is taking Connie's place.

Once again may we remind you that the library is going on summer schedule in July. The hours will be Friday Only: 3:00 to 5:00 and 7:00 to 9:00 p.m.

...our home and native land...

We all know what the problem is. So many "lands" within one gigantic land.

The West Coast. That's a home and native land. The Prairies. Central Canada. Quebec. The Atlantic Provinces. Every one is a home and native land.

But what about the big, gigantic land? We sing about it. But when are we going to recognize Canada as THE home and native land?

Fortunately, more and more Canadians—especially the youth—are beginning to realize that if we're going to keep our country together we must think of the whole country. We must start worrying about the problems of all Canadians.

Let's face it. Some Canadians need more help than others. They need big help. Wholehearted help. Unselfish help. Now, whom can they turn to . . . if not to their fellow Canadians?

Sometimes we say to ourselves, "Sure, I want to keep Canada together, but what can I do about it?"

There is something you can do about it. Start caring about Canada and Canadian problems. Start caring about our people. Our cities. Farms. Environment. Youth. Culture. Identity. Quality of Canadian life. And about all those things that make us a nation.

To stand together we have to understand together. Nobody else can do it for us.

Canada. Stand together. Understand together.

We were pleased to receive a 1st prize plaque for our float in the parade. Congratulations to Lorraine and her committee for a job well done.

The annual baseball game with Sherwood Park Oil Wives will be held on Sunday, June 20th at 2:00 p.m. on St. Anthony's diamond. If you can not play come out and cheer.

Donna Gawalko presented the retiring executive with pins and the new executive took their place at the head table.

Guest speaker, Mr. Pat Seymour is from the University of Alberta, Department of Botany. He is in charge of the Botanic Garden and Field Laboratory north of Devon.

Mr. Seymour showed us some slides on Bulbous and Herbaceous plants. He answered questions from the floor and invited us out to visit the Botanic Garden on Saturdays and the first Sunday of each month between 1:00 and 5:00 p.m.

Plan Changes in Hunting Seasons

The 1971 hunting seasons for Alberta have been announced by the Minister of Lands and Forests, the Hon. Dr. J. Donovan Ross.

The upland game bird zone map has been modified and made to correspond with the previous waterfowl zone map. This manoeuvre will simplify hunting seasons considerably.

Sharp-tailed grouse seasons have been separated from other bird species and the season much reduced in length. More intensive management of sharp-tailed grouse seems necessary in some areas. The earliest opening date for upland birds in any zone is September 7, to coincide with the antlered game seasons.

The taking of hen pheasants will be allowed in 1971. The season from October 8 to October 30 will have a daily limit of 3 birds per day (1 of which may be a hen) and a possession limit of 9 (3 of which may be hens). The November 1 to December 4 season on pheasants has a daily bag limit of 5 cock pheasants and a possession of 15 cock pheasants. No shooting of hens is allowed during this later season. Recent research on Alberta pheasants showed that the limited shooting of females would not adversely affect the populations.

Deer, Elks, Moose and Caribou Seasons will have their earliest opening on September 7 in the mountain regions and Big Game Zone 1. Foothills and prairie regions will have their opening dates considerably later. Bighorn sheep seasons are to open on August 28 but the closing date has been advanced to October 23, one week shorter than in 1970.

A system of compulsory registration will be in effect for bighorn sheep, caribou and cougar, similar to the one already under way for grizzly bears. All successful hunters will thus be required to record their take of these animals.

Only male caribou will be legal game in Big Game Zone 6 this year while both sexes of caribou will remain open in Zone 1.

A decision on the antelope season and/or permit quota will be deferred, as usual, until after the July aerial surveys.

Grizzly bear seasons will remain closed south of the Bow River while spring only season will remain in effect over the rest of the province.

Female mule deer, as well as other female seasons, have been severely restricted in most areas of the province. The trophy only mule deer season is continuing in the southern prairie region.

The special archery season is again available in Zone 5 from August 28 to September 25. Upland birds are now included in this season.

The cougar, now a game animal, has a split season in effect this year. The early season from September 7 to December 11 is open to holders of an elk licence only. The hunting of cougar with dogs will be allowed only from January 15 to March 1 (1972) with a special cougar licence required for this period.

Waterfowl seasons and bag limits have not been finalized to date.

Oats and Barley Haylage Popular with Cattleman

DALEMEAD, ALBERTA -- Louis Cleveland has found a new way to extend his hay supply by making and storing oats and barley haylage without expensive tower silos. And while this may sound new to most West Canada beef feeders, Cleveland has been using his unique method for 10 years.

His success with this feeding method has prompted him to expand his present feedlot so it is capable of handling 1,000 head of feeder cattle. Cleveland plans to use haylage along with grain to fatten cattle for market.

"I'm not sure where I got the idea," says Cleveland. "In 1961, I was short of hay and decided to try making some haylage. It turned out to be a very good winter feed so I continued it. Then I tried fattening some cattle on it and it worked here, too."

Cleveland's haylage is made from oats and barley. This year's crop of 700 acres will produce up to eight tons an acre.

Prior to planting, the soil is worked up with a field cultivator and seed planted at the rate of 2 bushels oats and barley per acre. Fifty pounds of 11-48 and 100 pounds nitrogen fertilizer at planting time help get the crop off to a fast start. No additional water is used.

When the grain reaches the dough stage, about 50% moisture, Cleveland cuts and swaths it. He follows immediately with a New Holland Model 1880 Crop Cruiser self-propelled harvester (he bought the first such unit in Alberta), chopping the crop to an average 3/4" length and blowing it into a special self-unloading wagon pulled by the harvester. When the wagon is full, the load is dumped into a waiting truck.

"This wagon saves time in that one truck can haul all the material from the harvester," he says. "By the time the next load is chopped, the truck has returned from dumping the previous load."

Cleveland stores the crop in large piles stacked near groves of trees where the claves will be wintered. Each of the three piles made this year will contain about 500 loads. That's 2,000 tons in each pile. He sprinkles a soybean meal based preservative at the rate of one per ton on each load as a trial. The average pile is 150 feet long, 60 wide, and 10 feet high. The material is packed with a dual-wheeled tractor to speed up fermentation. No cover of any type is put on.

The haylage goes through the normal fermenting process. And spoilage is at a minimum, partly because it turns cold before it has a chance to develop.

"The barley is cooked by the heat generated during fermentation," says Cleveland, "and we're not troubled by health problems such as founder. Taking the crop as silage has the advantage of removing wild oats from the land. We don't have to spend money for spray."

Cleveland says he feeds it by using a grapple fork to load it into a wagon and then dumping it into feed bunks. He locates the bunker near trees so animals don't have to walk too far for feed in winter.

"Calves weigh around 400 pounds when started on haylage. They consume an average of 40 pounds haylage and gain about 1½ pounds per day. We sell them in the spring to feeders or fatten them ourselves with grain," he says.

"We start on straight silage and keep increasing the grain until they are eating about 15 pounds of grain and balance silage."

Cleveland farms a total of 2,480 acres. Other crops and livestock raised include 100 cows, 200 acres hay and 200 acres pasture.
